

Hearing Protection Training

This training shows workers how to protect their hearing by reducing or muffling workplace noise, and selecting and using the proper protective equipment, such as ear plugs and ear muffs.

When a student loses hearing due to noise in the workplace, it is gone forever. That's why it's essential to take the right steps to prevent hearing loss. Don't let the people you work with end up hearing impaired when all they need to do is listen to this course's message and put it into action, every day.
